"THE EXPRESS CAR MYSTERY"—VENICE

Daring leaps, a fire, a locomotive chase, and many other exciting features make the new Kalem two-part railroad story, "The Express Car Mystery," one of the most thrilling pictures ever thrown on the screen. This production has been secured by the Venice theater for Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 26 and 27. Dugan, a loafer, smashes Pasquale's violin. The Italian vows to get even. Dugan learns that Grant, an express messenger on the L. & E., is to receive a large sum of money consigned to a distant bank. He drops to the roof of the train as it passes under a bridge. The man knocks Grant unconscious and escapes with the money. Grant is accused of the theft and arrested. Pasquale sees Dugan passing. He follows the man and enters the thief's room. Dugan lays the Italian low and escapes. A lamp is upset and starts a fire. Pasquale revives and makes his way out. Dugan leaves the city on a train, but the Italian follows. Dugan is captured and brought back to the city. He confesses his crime and Grant is freed.

DEATH ELLEN CONYNGHAM

There will be many friends in this city, who will regret to hear of the unexpected death of Ellen Mary Conyngham, widow of the late John C. Conyngham, which occurred at the family home, 1030 Centre street, Monday night. She was taken seriously ill last Wednesday, and despite the most tender care and the best medical attention she sank rapidly. Deceased was born in Oswego, N. Y., but has lived in Erie many years, being one of this city's most highly esteemed residents. Mrs. Conyngham was a woman of kindly disposition, and spent her whole life in the quiet pursuit of her home and the rearing of her family. In her home where her death is most keenly felt, she was at all times a good wife and an indulgent mother, and a kind and generous neighbor and friend. Her taking away falls heavily upon those who are left to mourn, for death has entered this family circle for the fourth time in a period of nearly two years, the death of the father in April 1912, and the subsequent deaths of a grownup daughter and son since. The funeral will be held from the late home Friday morning at 8:30. Funeral services at St. Ann's church at 9 o'clock. The interment will be held in Niagara Falls, N. Y. Those surviving are Mary, Mrs. Joseph Williams, Olive and Florence, all of Erie, Richard of New Castle, and Thomas, of Erie. The sympathy of the entire community is extended in their sad bereavement.
